Swineherd MODERN DAIRYING.

The Old-Fashloued hash Churn and the Co-operation Factory of To-day. Wo like to illustrate ald-fashloued, homeliko scenes. Sometimes we take an illustration to show the wrong side. Such is the case here in dairying. The man of the house, probably odorous of the stable, as he is of the pipe, dawdling over his work; the cat ilcking at the pail: the youngster surreptltlously drinking out of a pan of milk, the col webs ornamenting the coiling, and the good wife wearily working away at the old-fashloved churn. All these bring back reminiscences of the old milk cellar, pleasant if clean, but by this picture, how horrible!

But modern processes have modern Ized dairy labors. Ico and cold-water setting have done away with the old-fashioned collar combination, and has enabled the farmer's wife to have perfect elemliness, if sho will, in small ompass. And as good butter may ho mado from a herd of five or tencows as from one larger, if only the quality of clennliness and coolness is kept constantly.ln mind.

Ilut nowadays co-operative dnirying is coming in the front. The farmer with five or twenty-live cows has only to furnish the milk to the factory, and all the fixtures being of the first-class the product of course commands the highest market price. These co-operative dairies are largely being extended in the New England States. They have gained a strong foothold in some portlons of the West. The stockholders are the patrons, as distinguished from factories, where the milk or cream is simply sold to the factories for much mouey. Every man or woman is not only interested in having the milk pure and of high quality, but interested in knowing tint of their nelgiboring stockholders do the same. There is no cobwebby mllk room, ne tobacco-smoking pipes and no weary housewife doing tread-mill service with the hands over the old burrel,

The old-fashloaed dash-ciurn innkes as good butter as the best, but it is weary work. Scienco has done fully ns much for the dairy as it has in any other department of agriculture. As good butter may be made in a clean, well-ventilated celiar as any where clso, in a common way, but there la too much hard work over thoold way. The world moves, and dairying has moved with it. It is, like the old eaken bucket, poetical, but fast becoming a thing of the past.—Prairie T. B. HANCOCK BALESMAN.

may be, it is not always easy in eases of wounds of the abdomen to deter-mine whether he intestines have been lajared. Dr. Nicholas Sena, of Mil-wankee, startled the surgical section of the American Medical Associa tion with some experiments in-tended to show the value of hydrogen in the diagnosis of anch wounds. Enemata of the gas were given to the dogs for a few minutes, and it was then ignited at the animals noses; a stab wound was then inflict ed, and it was ignited at the point of puncture. In like manner a pistolshot wound was diagnostleated. The Innoenousness of the gas Itself was affirmed and demonstrated. The experiments were looked upon as of the greatest significance, and Dr. Senn was heartly congratulated.

A sub-committee of the American Medical Association on the subject of infant feeding offers the following as useful rulos:

1. In the case of lufants deprived of breast-milk the artificial substitute should correspond as nearly as possible to human milk. 2. Cow's milk corresponds to breastmilk in most respects, but its easelne should be broken up, so as not to coagulate in large masses in the stomach. A portion of milk should be first pep-toulzed and then added to fresh milk. practice of adding it to fresh milk is wrong. Fully-digested feed for either idults or infants is bad for the digestive organs. 4. All marsing bottles should be belied several times a day In order to destroy the germs of de-composition. For every death from small-pox in the United States during the last third of a century there have been aix from searlet fever; and for every death from cholera during the same period there have been twenty-two from typhold fever. There is, it is true, no such known and tested method of preventg searlet fever as vaccination certainly farnishes for small-pox, but much could be done to limit the ravages of the red pestilence than has yet been attempted; and in the case of typhoid fevor-that is as absolutely preventnble as any centagion. It is rightly called the "typical tith disease," and lts prevalence in n community ls an unerring Indication of the most disgusting form of water pellution. Sanitarians and health officers and the exponents of proventive medicine generally would do well to devote more attention to these diseases whileb have become demesticated with us, unther than expend their energies so exclusively upon the exclusion of Asiatic cholera, yellow fever and other exotle pestllences. - Chicage News.

THINK FOR YOURSELF.

Why Every Young Man Should Develop a Mind of His Own. A man without a mind of his own is the most helpiess and shiftless of social beings. His brain is a mere receptaele for ahreds and patches of opinion picked up in the atreets, and the same ntirmlty which leads him to look to every body save blimself for guldance, renders ldm incapable of sciecting from the multifarlous counsel he recolves that which is best adapted to his exigencies. Nay, la his weak bewliderment he fails to make any acctions at all, and while he wavers and hestlates, the golden opportunity for decisive action slips by, and leaves him floundering in a predicament, from which one manly stride in almost my direction would extricate him. But let the weak of purpose take heart. ndence may be acquired. Cowards by nature have reasoned themselves. ere now, into a philosphic indiffer-ence to danger, and even the changeus on these goods every mind with which It comes In contact, may learn to resolve and excente on his own responsibility. It must not be supposed that we would mises. The very fact of a man seeking connsol in the right quarter and promptly adopting It, is evidence that he has a mind of his own, that his against a rock in time of difficulty elty. that we would remonstrate, but with the lenners on reeds, the eatekers at straws, the chartless, who are puffed hither and thither by every idle breeze. olilty is the most fatal. ### COURT NOTES.

Yesterday the case of the Commonwealth against Charlle Klmhrough col., charged with killing Harvey larnett, col., at Heradon Juae 21st 87, was tried. The evidence sgainst Kimbrough was not strong and he was cleared.

The Stanley case was also set for yesterday. It will be remembered that Harmon and Renzy Stanley, co1., klifed Colonel Ebling at the August election two years ago. They have stood two trials, the tirst resulting he a hung jury, the second in a convict'on for 7 years upon which an sppeal was taken and the judgement reversed The Stanley's were thea released uader a bond of $300 each. Yesterday they were in town ready for trial, but the case was couthined at the instance of the defense.

Mr. Ben Harrlson would doubtless argue that if a man doesn't understand the name and nature of his disease, he has no need for medicine or a physiclau. The truth is, the most dangerous disease is that which slowdangerous disease is that which slow-ly saps the foundation of health and whose insidious approaches give little warning until it is ioo late to apply the remedy. Mr. Harrison does not deny that "these, are being taxed upon almost all the necessaries of life— in fact he admits it. But he claims that the tax is so indirectly and so with the continuation of the control of the con subtly taken that a man doesn't realize when he is paying two prices for his coai, his medicine, the materials for his house or the tools of his trade that he la paying taxes to the government or its creature monopolies.
This "subtleness" and "indirectness" ls a very great thing, in the opinion of Statesman Harrison, not because it makes the burden any lighter but bemakes the burden any lighter but because it conceals from the taxpayer the eause of his poverty and the source of his troubles. A man may not know why it is that he works hard all the year and comes out in debt at the end of it; he may not know why it is that he is forced to morigage his farm to be the expression of light he may pay the expenses of llvlng; he may not know why it is that his wages do not enable him to do more than sup-ply his family with the bare necessities of life; he may not know why he had to buy a shoddy coat for himself and a cheap dress for his wife; he may, indeed be so densely ignoraut that ho doesn't know that there is any such thing as a tarill or have the slight. comprehension of its operation and effect.
